MONESSEN WITHOUT GAS FOR ONE DAY GOES THROUGH DIM PERIOD

Sunday Day of Severe Suffering In the Misty Mill Town Across the River

PEOPLE GO VISITING

Food Famine Drives Many Residents From Homes to Other Towns—Factories Close For Day

When the gas supply for Monessen borough was shut off by reason of a break in the pipe line on Sunday, the residents of that borough suffered. Mills were damaged to some extent and trouble generally ensued.

The breaking occurred in the large main leading from the rich West Virginia fields into Monessen, some time on Saturday morning. The break was somewhere close to Monessen borough. It was possible to furnish gas up until Sunday morning. Mills are understood to have been notified of the proposed shut off of the supply some hours before the gas main was cut, but it is said that none of the private consumers were told.

Consequently they were the heaviest sufferers. None of the restaurants or hotels could serve "warm" dinners, and practically no evening meals at all. The bread supply gave out and the famished populace had to await the arrival of an extra supply this morning from Pittsburg. With the gas gone and the problem of getting meals more than the inhabitants generally cared to tackle, Sunday was made a visiting day. People came from Monessen to Charleroi in numbers and many went to Donora and Belle Vernon and Monongahela and other points to be guests of their friends.

The officials of the Pittsburg Steel company state that the only loss to the mill from the shutoff of gas was the day's enforced idleness. The Carnegie Steel company and the Page mill had to close down the departments where gas was used. At about 6 o'clock in the evening the gas supply was turned on again, and everything was lovely.

Stewart to Speak Here

Noted Prohibition Lecturer to Appear at Christian Church Wednesday

Probably the best known Prohibition lecturer in the country, Hon. Oliver Wayne Stewart of Chicago, Ill., is to lecture on Wednesday night at the Christian church at a union meeting. His talk will be along the lines of prohibition of the liquor traffic. Mr. Stewart has been heard before in Charleroi. He proved upon his former appearance here a very popular lecturer. Nationally he is noted. He was former member of the Illinois general assembly and presided over the national convention of Prohibitionists four years.

Mr. Stewart attracted much local repute a few years ago when he took part in a three-cornered debate in Pittsburg. A Republican congressman and a noted Democrat were his opponents. Mr. Stewart according to the Pittsburg papers literally whaled them both by his arguments for Prohibition.

Two carloads of furniture have arrived for installation in the new St. Jerome's Catholic church. The consignment consists of altars, pews, confessionals and the baptistry. A third car is expected in within a few days.

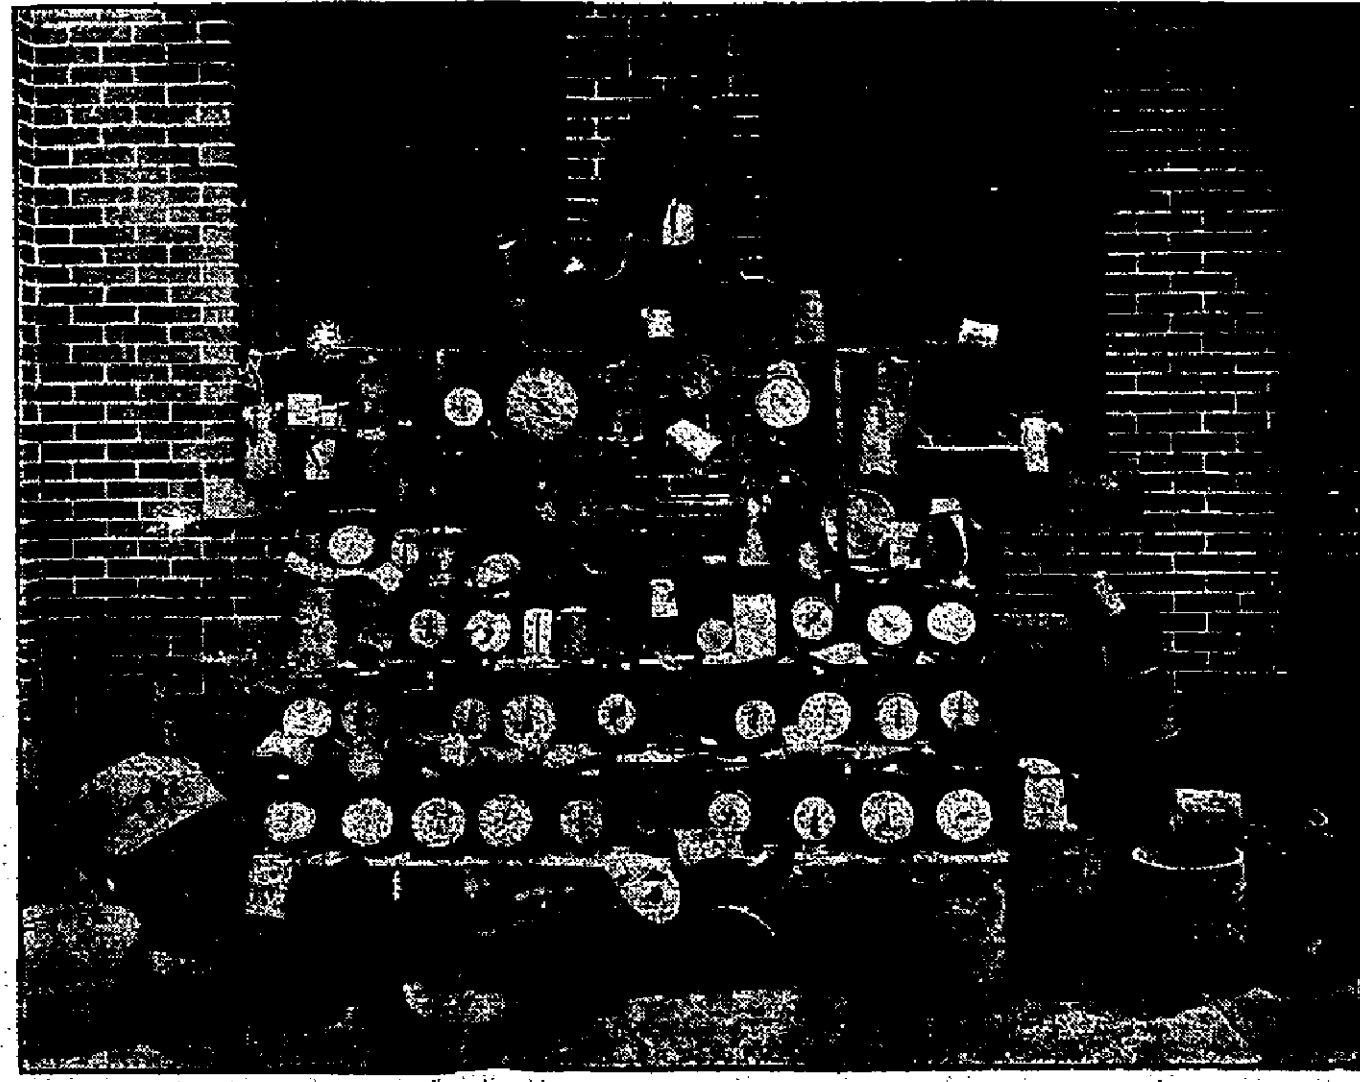

The scaffolding has been removed from the interior of the church, which with the interior decorations and the beautiful shaded lights hung affords some idea of the future beauty of the structure. As soon as possible the furnishings will be installed and arrangements made for dedication.

"ALL OVER AT 2" HE WRITES TO HIS SON

Aged Man Found on Floor of Bedroom, Bullet in Brain, After His Letter Reaches Its Destination

"At 2 o'clock in the morning all will be over," were the words written by Julien Jardin, aged 73, a French resident to his son Leonard Jardin Friday night. The son received the letter on Sunday and going to the home where his father lived alone, he found his dead body, a bullet hole in back of his ear.

Jardin, the elder had visited his son, who lives at 612 Eighth street on Friday afternoon, and apparently had awaited the last delivery of mail, then had placed the letter to his son in the mail box. This done he returned to his home which is just on the outskirts of town back of the reservoir. He appeared in his usual health Friday afternoon.

The son got the letter and immediately quit work to go to his father's place to ascertain the meaning of the mysterious message. The father's intention had apparently been carried out with due regard to time. His body was found lying on the floor of his bedroom. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon and interment was in the Charleroi cemetery.

The dead man came here from the vicinity of Greensburg some weeks ago. He was a gardener and began gardening at a plot back of the reservoir. It is supposed that despondency brought on by recent illness was the cause of his deed. He complained while visiting a friend a few days ago of having a cold and of not feeling well.

Coroner James Heffran was notified Saturday afternoon and the body was taken to the rooms of Deputy Coroner Lawrence B. Frye. No inquest will be held into the man's death, the evidence of suicide being apparent.

FEDERATED CLASSES HOLD MEETING AND DISCUSS PROBLEMS

A meeting of the Adult Federated Classes of the Charleroi Sunday School district was held Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. There was a discussion of problems having to do with the town's welfare and action may come out of the discussion. Previous to the meeting Sunday school superintendents discussed problems pertaining to the forthcoming Sunday school convention to be held in Washington this summer.

OSBORNE GOES TO AKRON; M'ILVAINE WITH CHILlicothe

Arch Osborne was the first Charleroi man to get away for the spring baseball training season. Osborne left this morning for Akron, Ohio, where he will play the coming year. He anticipates a good season. Osborne last year was one of the leading twirlers in the Central League.

John McIlvaine has signed with Chillicothe, Ohio, and will report there on April 27. He will remain at home to play the first game with the Charleroi Independents on April 26.

Large Percentage of "Wrongs" Found on Recent Visit There and Inspection

SCALES ARE AWAY OFF

Over 72 Per Cent of Them Proven to not Weigh Properly—Consumers Realize Loss

The first official inspection of the scales, weights and measures of Donora by the County Sealer, O. Evans Mikesell, has revealed conditions startling in the extreme. The report of the Sealer shows that 72 per cent of all scales were condemned or confiscated; 31 per cent of all dry measures; 30.3 per cent of all liquid measures and 8.3 per cent of all linear measures. And these figures do not tell the whole story of the actual conditions. The absence of real dry quart measures has cost each and every consumer a loss of 14 per cent and more on every quart purchase of dry commodities. All quart measures have looked alike to the dealers there as elsewhere in the county. The fraudulent imitation of a weighing device, the Family or "Monkey" scale has been banished. The bottomless dry measures and the double measures have also passed on. The over-sized five scale hereafter will be a thing of the past and the avoirdupois pound 16 ounces will again ascend its throne in the weight world. Paper wrappings, cartons and other superfluous pasteboard and paper will no longer be charged up to the consumer at the price of high grade butter or other commodities.

The Sealer met with unusual courtesy on the part of the tradesmen and nowhere have public officials been more anxious to aid in the work than at Donora. Sealer Mikesell was offered every assistance and shown extreme courtesy by the citizens, the tradesmen and the public officials. The confiscated scales, weights and measures were deposited in the borough building where they are now on exhibition. The accompanying cut shows more than 200 individual pieces of confiscated "stuff." The Sealer visited 110 dealers and inspected all scales except those of a capacity of 500 pounds and upwards. At present no provision has been made for looking after the scales of the dealers used in checking up the wholesalers. The first inspection is completed but the Sealer will have to re-visit those places where scales were red-tagged for repair and make re-tests. In all probability many of these scales will fail to pass muster.

Sealer Mikesell, in commenting on the inspection says:

"I want to thank the Burgess, the members of council, the Borough Clerk and assistants, the Chief of Police and his officers and all borough officials and employees and the tradesmen and citizens in general for the many courtesies shown me and the aid rendered in making the first inspection here and last but not least the American for its editorial support."

GOOD WILL.

The most dominating factor in politics, finance, industry and everything pertaining to the well being of society today is the good will of the public. Even the big corporations and monopolies are beginning to recognize that unless they have the good will of the public they cannot exist, and that their road is becoming more rocky each year with the increase of hostile sentiment on the part of the public. This is most forcibly set forth by an article in the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post by Will C. Payne, who says in effect that public sentiment is forcing the big monopolies to eat out of the hands of the people.

This is demonstrated by many notable examples. Mr. Payne relates how a Chicago Street Railway company got a ninety-nine year franchise, and proceeded to give rotten service, secure in the belief that the company was entrenched by its long time franchise. This was further fortified by various court decisions in the efforts of the people to get good service. Finally after some years of growing public hostility, the matter was taken up to the United States Supreme court, and that latter body, recognizing that the temper of the people was dangerous, knocked the ninety-nine year franchise galley west and now the street railway company can be led about by a string.

Big corporations and big business generally recognize now that unless they have the good will of the public their securities are valueless. They are obliged to sell their stock to the public in order to get money, and if the public is hostile to their corporation, their securities are worthless. This is evidenced by the big decline in the stock of the Express companies, because the public has it "in for them." Railroads and other big industries who used to insult newspaper reporters and magazine writers are now most obliging and affable in giving out information. The big interest that has gotten the hostility of the press is now spending big sums of money in costly advertising space in order to try to square itself with the public. Public sentiment is even having an effect on court decisions.

Big business cannot longer be financed by the banks. It has to sell its stock to the public, and even the banks are dependent on the people for their savings to supply the funds that are poured into Wall street for the money trust. Therefore the policy of monopolistic conceals in skinning the public for all the traffic will stand in having a reactionary effect that will become a mighty weapon as soon as the people recognize their power in withholding its good will from all concerns that do not play

A FRANK STATEMENT.

Governor Tener's frank suggestion as to how the proposed bond issue of $50,000,000 should be expended in improving the roads of the commonwealth in case the people approve the constitutional amendment at the polls next fall, should satisfy those who are knocking the proposition on the grounds that the final disposition of the funds is being concealed. It has been charged that the governor proposes to have enabling acts passed in advance of the passage of the amendment, so that in case it is approved by the people the whole bond issue can be expended right off the reel, which will call for continued and increased expenditures far in excess of the amount now proposed to finish up the work begun.

This contention is effectually dispelled by the governor's statement that he contemplates no enabling acts until the constitutional amendment becomes a fact, which will be the province of the legislature of 1915. Then the governor suggests that the bond issue be floated in such amounts as can be used to best advantage each successive year for a term of six years. This, however, will have to be provided for by the enabling acts of the legislature, in which case it will be open and above board, with nothing secretive about it. This statement of the governor should dispel the distrust that is being created over the proposed bond issue which, while not likely to affect the passage of the act to submit the resolution, might jeopardize its success at the polls next fall.

The proposed bond issue for the improvement of the roads of the commonwealth is the most important piece of constructive legislation yet undertaken, and it would be acalimity for it to fall down at the hands of the voters at the polls because of misunderstandings as to details.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A Pittsburg woman, who makes frequent visits in Charleroi, relates that when Jacob Riis, the well-known New York philanthropist, addressed the Twentieth Century Club of which he is a member in Pittsburg last week he was introduced by Rev. Dr. James H. McIlvaine, rector of Calvary Episcopal church, who related an interesting anecdote in connection.

Dr. McIlvaine stated that one time during the winter, after he had prepared his Sunday sermon he picked up Jacob Riis' book "How the Other Half Lives," and began reading it. "So impressed was I by the revelations it contained," said Dr. McIlvaine, "that I laid aside the sermon I had prepared, and wrote another one, based on the statements I had read in Jacob Riis' book only with a local application. When I delivered it I noticed that I received marked attention on the part of my congregation. What was my surprise, when I opened my mail Monday morning, to receive a letter from one of my parishioners enclosing a check for $1,000.

"Dear Doctor," the letter said, "please use this in helping some of those whom you know of 'the other half,' who are in most need of it."

Dale Jolliffe, who is filling a position at Bellevue was home over Sunday visiting his mother, Mrs. Jennie Jolliffe of Fallowfield avenue. While here Mr. Jolliffe related a story he heard regarding the presidential campaign last fall. It was at a Democratic rally and the speaker had worked himself, if not his audience, up to a fine degree of enthusiasm. So sure was he of Democratic success that he appeared willing to stake even his chances of future salvation on it. "Gentlemen!" he shouted, gesticulating wildly, "Taft has no more chance of being elected than a bow-legged girl has of getting married in the community in which she was raised!"

"Why did not the recent flood come to Charleroi?" asked R. S. Coyle of the Coyle Theatre, this morning. "Give it up," was the reply. "Because it had a Dayton, Ohio."

of weights and measures inspection. Without this support I would have been unable to render such a report.
"I hope that the women of Donora will organize a Marketing Club such as they have in Charleroi, Greensburg, Monongahela and Pittsburgh for the furtherance of this work. Every household should have correct scales, weights and measures. Check up all purchases and help to lower the cost of living. Your tradesman will not object, for in a like manner he checks all goods he receives from the wholesaler. Weigh after your butcher, huckster and buttermilk, and let them know that you do so. You will be surprised to see the bulk of two pounds of sausage increase; the cost of chickens and other commodities for the Sunday dinner diminish. The coffee and butter will go farther; you won't use quite as much sugar, and what is best of all, you will be pleased to note how rarely a mistake will occur."

Marrying Her Debts.
It sounds strange to talk of marrying the wife's debts, but that was a common practice in England years ago. It was before the married woman's property act of 1882. In contemplation of law the husband and wife were one, and the husband was that one. Then if the bride owed any debts before marriage they devolved on the newly married husband, and he had to pay the piper. This led to some extraordinary farces being enacted. Women who were overworked with debts actually got rid of them by marrying some poor bankrupt, imprisoned for debt. These men did not mind whether they were liable for hundreds or thousands, and the "wife" usually paid the "husband" a few pounds for the protection of his name, and then she would snap her fingers at her baffled creditors and gayly set about incurring fresh debts. The law which settled and removed this sort of thing deserves a better title than the colloquial one of "a bass."—London Advertiser.

Baseball Is Business.
Professional baseball is a business and millions of dollars are invested in it by business men. They make fortunes out of it, but they pay their players higher salaries than 999 out of every 1,000 of them could earn at any other line of work during a similar number of months each year. From a baseball player nothing is required but that he be able to play a good game and keep in condition. Many stars in the old days were able to do little more than sign their names and read leg print. A better educated class of men are in the game today, but they are getting more money for their services than they could earn if they followed any one of hundreds of different professions. And remember that many of them stepped right out of college into good paying baseball positions. Could they have done as well financially had they entered banks or tried their hands at the law or medicine? Ed A. Goewey in Leslies.

Victoria and the Future.
Queen Victoria's childlike faith in the future life is touchingly revealed in her published letters to Dr. Boyd Carpenter. The only fear that troubled her was lest those she loved who had left this world before her might have outgrown her companionship. "I feel only this doubt," she wrote to Carpenter, "on account of my dear husband, whose tastes were of a higher and different order from mine and who had different interests perhaps from mine. I am far more fit now to be his companion than I used to be, but still I know that he must have soared higher than me."

RAZORS IN CHINA.

They Cost Little, but They Are Made From Old Iron Horseshoes.

An interesting feature of Chinese industry is the making of knives and razors from old horseshoes. The towns blacksmiths in the interior cities and towns supply the great population of the empire with knives, razors and scissors of an inferior quality at a very small cost. This cutlery comes from small shops where only one or two men are employed, usually the proprietor and his sons, and is chiefly made from old horseshoes imported from England and the continent. A discarded steel shoe offers the best material for blades, but the blacksmiths prefer the old shoes of soft iron that come from Glasgow and Hamburg.

One British firm at Tientsin brought over a cargo of old horseshoes from Australia recently but could not dispose of them as the native smiths said that the iron was too hard. They like the soft iron because it can be more easily worked by their primitive methods.

A razor commonly used by the poor class, having a cutting edge of less than two inches, costs 20 times as much as a good one. Upon the strip the blade takes a fair cutting edge, but is too soft to hold it. Any number of stroppings are necessary before the act of shaving can be completed. After the blades are forged they are simply case hardened and not subjected to the careful tempering employed in the production of western cutlery.—Youth's Companion.

The Worst Yet.

Johnny handed the following note from his mother to the teacher one morning:

"Dear Teacher—You keep tellin' my boy to breathe with his diaphragm. May be rich children has got diaphragms, but how about when there father only makes $1.50 a day and has got five children to keep? First it's one thing, then it's another, and now it's diaphragms. That's the worst yet!"—Ladies Home Journal.

HE SAW THINGS.

The Boy Obeyed His Dad and Learned to Use His Eyes.

In the daily half hour confidential talk with his boy an ambitious London father tried to give some advice.

"Be observing, my son," said the father on one occasion. "Cultivate the habit of seeing, and you will be a successful man. Study things and remember them. Don't go through the world blindly. Learn to use your eyes. Boys who are observant know a great deal more than those who are not."

Willie listened in silence. Several days later, when the entire family consisting of his mother, aunt and uncle, were present, his father said:

"Well, Willie, have you kept using your eyes, as I advised you to do?" Willie nodded and after a moment's hesitation said:

"I have seen a few things about the house. Uncle Jim's got a bottle of hair dye hid under his bed. Aunt Jennie's got an extra set of teeth and a lot of false hair in her dresser. Ma's got some curls sewed in her hat, and pa's got a pack of cards and a box of dice and a leather covered flask behind the bookcase."—London Tit-Bits.

Just For a Change.

The great celebrity was seriously ill, and the attending physicians had diagnosed his case as appendicitis. They so informed him.

"Very well," he replied calmly. "I have only one request to make. I presume an operation is inevitable?"

"It is," they told him.

"That being so," the great man went on, in the same calm manner, "please arrange to operate on me from below. It is my desire, when the time comes to operate, that I be rigged up securely in some hammock-like arrangement and that the surgeons work upon me as I swing suspended over their heads."

"His mind is wandering," whispered the attendants.

"Not so," corrected the patient, "not at all. I wish merely to give the newspapers a chance to say something else than that I am 'under the knife.'"—Brooklyn Times.

How Soap Cleanses.

A Belgian chemist who has studied the action of soap on various soiling substances of different colors has arrived at the conclusion that the cleansing of an object consists in a process of substitution. There is brought about a colloidal combination of the soap and the soiling substance, which, by reason of its constitution, no longer has the power of fixing itself by absorption on to the solid body, with the result that it is easily carried away by the water. Thus in washing with soap one puts it in contact with one's soiling substances, these latter having a greater affinity for the former than for one's skin. Soap has even a greater affinity for one's skin than for the substances, which it proceeds to replace and to set free to be taken up by the water and removed.

FIRST AID IN THE HOME.

The Way to Care For Wounds Until the Doctor Arrives.

There should always be some one in the home who understands the principle of "first aid in injury"—some one who can clean a wound, stop bleeding and apply a bandage.

Even the simplest wounds—where any blood flows—should be given prompt and scientific attention. This does not mean that every home should have a trained surgeon. The following ten emergency hints should be memorized:

Stop the bleeding if severe.
Do not touch an open wound with the fingers.
Note the nature of the injuries and put the injured person in a comfortable place and position.
Summon a surgeon.
Do not disturb blood clots.
Never probe for a bullet.
Pick shreds of clothing and splinters or dirt from a wound.
Then bring the edges of the wound together, but without touching them.
Pack the wound with gauze or absorbent cotton, and apply bandage.
Band on splints if bones are broken.
With a little study, a half hour a day for a week, and some practice, any one will be able to carry out the foregoing hints in a hygienic manner.—Kansas City Times.

An Island City.

Greater New York consists of forty-five islands. It might be called the Island City. Read the names of some of the larger: Manhattan Island, Long Island, Staten Island, Hart's Island, City Island, Riker's Island, North Brother Island, South Island, Blackwell's Island, Randall's Island, Ward's Island, Berrian's Island, Governors Island, Barren Island and Coney Island. Many small ones in Jamaica bay have large names. One Inland Island, Marble Hill, near Kingsbridge, has been made by the government channel cut through on the Harlem river improvements.

Human Nature.

"Why is it," asked the curious guest, "that poor men usually give larger tips than rich men?"

"Well, sir," said the waiter, who was something of a philosopher as well, "looks to me like de poor man don't want nobody to find out he's poor and de rich man don't want nobody to find out he's rich."—Exchange.

Mothers! Here's Something New For Croup and Cold Troubles

An External Treatment That Does Away With Internal Medicines, Chest Protectors, Etc.—You Can Let the Children Run Outdoors in All Weathers and Get Their Needed Fresh Air and Exercise.

Every mother is the doctor when it comes to treating the annoying little cold troubles that all children are heir to. The only trouble is to know what really is the best thing to do.

Some mothers keep the children in doors and make them wear chest protectors and heavy flannels. This method deprives the children of the fresh air and exercise they need and the heavy clothing keeps the pores of the skin open and really makes them catch cold more easily.

A few mothers neglect these troubles entirely and this often leads in after life to chronic catarrh, weakened lungs, etc.

Most mothers keep on hand a formidable array of bottles and are usually dosing one or more of the children. This method is probably worse than the others as most cough medicines contain alcohol and some form of opium and are very injurious to the delicate stomachs of the little folks.

After all, colds are simply inflammations of the lining of the air passages just like sunburn and mosquito bites are inflammation of the skin. We don't dose the stomach to cure sunburn, but we have had to dose the stomach for colds because there has been no way of applying a direct application to the air passages except in the form of vapors. And while the old vapor lamps gave off the needed vapors they required the room to be kept closed and hence kept out the all important fresh air.

Pine tar from the south, menthol from Japan, camphor from the Isle of Formosa and the oils of Thymol, eucalyptol, cubeb and juniper, are recognized as the best remedies for cold troubles. Druggists the world over have been seeking some cheap, convenient method of vaporizing these products without having to use the cumbersome vapor lamp.

A druggist in North Carolina discovered how to combine these products in a salve by a special process so that they were vaporized by the heat of the body when applied over the throat and chest. This patented process is the only secret about this new treatment which is known as Vicks Croup and Pneumonia Salve.

Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a little Vicks used occasionally will keep the children free from cold troubles, no matter how much they are exposed. Croup really is relieved in 15 minutes. For all inflammations of the air passages such as catarrh, bronchitis, tonsillitis, asthma, etc., this new treatment will be found remarkably successful. Simply apply Vicks well over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

All the drug stores in Charleroi are now agencies for the sale of this preparation and are giving with each sale a refund slip that is good for your money back if Vicks is not found to be far better than internal medicines.

Vicks comes in three sizes—25c, 50 cents and $1.00. The price is never cut.

CHEERFUL NEWS CHARLEROI HIGH GETS DEFEATED IN FIRST GAME

For Feeble Old People.
As one grows old the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, the organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth the circulation is poor, the blood thin and digestion weak.

Vinol our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil is the ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. Vinol also fortifies the system against colds and thus prevents pneumonia.

A grand niece of Alexander Hamilton over eighty years of age once remarked: "Vinol is a god-send to old people. Thanks to Vinol I have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, feel active and well. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I have ever used."

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble old people and create strength we will return your money. Piper Bros. Druggists, Fallowfield avenue.

A Peer's Horrible Fate.

The poet Rogers was afflicted with a notably un-pleasant, cadaverous countenance, which, with all his intellectual power, was a mortification to him. To hide his annoyance he joked about his ugliness incessantly and deceived his friends into supposing him indifferent to it. He once turned to Sydney Smith, who with Byron and Moore was dining with him, and said:

"Chantrel, I want to perpetuate this miserable face of mine. What pose would you suggest that I should take?" "If you wish to escape the world as far as possible," said the wit, "I would if I were you, be taken at my projects, my face buried in my hands."

Rogers laughed with the other persons present, but he shot a malignant glance at the jester and, it is said, never let the joke live him for the bonnet.

A Positive Partnership.

There are three partners in a boat in a Yorkshire fishing village who will not accept a check because the bank is too far away. They have two miles to walk to get their money orders cashed. Only one of the three is able to read and write, and he draws the money, and then the three sit at a table and divide it.

"One for you," says the leader, and places a sovereign in front of one partner. "One for thee"—and another sovereign is put in front of the other partner. "And one for me"—and he places another at his own corner.

And so he goes on. "One for you, one for thee, and one for me," until the sovereigns are equally shared, then the silver and the pence are divided in the same way.—London Mail.

MONESSEN WITHOUT GAS FOR ONE DAY GOES THROUGH DIM PERIOD

SEALER MIKESELL CONFISCATES ILLEGAL MEASURES AT DONORA

Sunday Day of Severe Suffering In the Misty Mill Town Across the River

PEOPLE GO VISITING

Food Famine Drives Many Residents From Homes to Other Towns—Factories Close For Day

When the gas supply for Monessen borough was shut off by reason of a break in the pipe line on Sunday, the residents of that borough suffered. Mills were damaged to some extent and trouble generally ensued.

The breaking occurred in the large main leading from the rich West Virginia fields into Monessen, some time on Saturday morning. The break was somewhere close to Monessen borough. It was possible to furnish gas up until Sunday morning. Mills are understood to have been notified of the proposed shut off of the supply some hours before the gas main was cut, but it is said that none of the private consumers were told.

Consequently they were the heaviest sufferers. None of the restaurants or hotels could serve "warm" dinners, and practically no evening meals at all. The bread supply gave out and the famished populace had to await the arrival of an extra supply this morning from Pittsburg.

With the gas gone and the problem of getting meals more than the inhabitants generally cared to tackle, Sunday was made a visiting day. People came from Monessen to Charleroi in numbers and many went to Donora and Belle Vernon and Monongahela and other points to be guests of their friends.

The officials of the Pittsburg Steel company state that the only loss to the mill from the shutoff of gas was the day's enforced idleness. The Carnegie Steel company and the Page mill had to close down the departments where gas was used. At about 6 o'clock in the evening the gas supply was turned on again, and everything was lovely.

Stewart to Speak Here

Noted Prohibition Lecturer to Appear at Christian Church Wednesday

Probably the best known Prohibition lecturer in the country, Hon. Oliver Wayne Stewart of Chicago, Ill., is to lecture on Wednesday night at the Christian church at a union meeting. His talk will be along the lines of prohibition of the liquor traffic.

Mr. Stewart has been heard before in Charleroi. He proved upon his former appearance here a very popular lecturer. Nationally he is noted. He was former member of the Illinois general assembly and presided over the national convention of Prohibitionists four years.

Mr. Stewart attracted much local repute a few years ago when he took part in a three-cornered debate in Pittsburg. A Republican congressman and a noted Democrat were his opponents. Mr. Stewart according to the Pittsburg papers literally whaled them both by his arguments for Prohibition.

"ALL OVER AT 2" HE WRITES TO HIS SON

Aged Man Found on Floor of Bedroom, Bullet in Brain, After His Letter Reaches Its Destination

"At 2 o'clock in the morning all will be over," were the words written by Julien Jardin, aged 78, a French resident to his son Leonard Jardin Friday night. The son received the letter on Sunday and going to the home where his father lived alone, he found his dead body, a bullet hole in back of his ear.

Jardin, the elder had visited his son, who lives at 612 Eighth street on Friday afternoon, and apparently had awaited the last delivery of mail, then had placed the letter to his son in the mail box. This done he returned to his home which is just on the outskirts of town back of the reservoir. He appeared in his usual health Friday afternoon.

The son got the letter and immediately quit work to go to his father's place to ascertain the meaning of the mysterious message. The father's intention had apparently been carried out with due regard to time. His body was found lying on the floor of his bedroom. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon and interment was in the Charleroi cemetery.

The dead man came here from the vicinity of Greensburg some weeks ago. He was a gardener and began gardening at a plot back of the reservoir.

It is supposed that despondency brought on by recent illness was the cause of his deed. He complained while visiting a friend a few days ago of having a cold and of not feeling well.

Coroner James Heffran was notified Saturday afternoon and the body was taken to the rooms of Deputy Coroner Lawrence B. Frye. No inquest will be held into the man's death, the evidence of suicide being apparent.

FEDERATED CLASSES HOLD MEETING AND DISCUSS PROBLEMS

A meeting of the Adult Federated Classes of the Charleroi Sunday School district was held Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. There was a discussion of problems having to do with the town's welfare and action may come out of the discussion. Previous to the meeting Sunday school superintendents discussed problems pertaining to the forthcoming Sunday school convention to be held in Washington this summer.

Large Percentage of "Wrongs" Found on Recent Visit There and Inspection

SCALES ARE AWAY OFF

Over 72 Per Cent of Them Proven to not Weigh Properly—Consumers Realize Loss

The first official inspection of the scales, weights and measures of Donora by the County Sealer, O. Evans Mikesell, has revealed conditions startling in the extreme. The report of the Sealer shows that 72 per cent of all scales were condemned or confiscated; 31 per cent of all dry measures; 30.8 per cent of all liquid measures and 8.3 per cent of all linear measures. And these figures do not tell the whole story of the actual conditions. The absence of real dry quart measures has cost each and every consumer a loss of 14 per cent and more on every quart purchase of dry commodities. All quart measures have looked alike to the dealers there as elsewhere in the county. The fraudulent imitation of a weighing device, the Family or "Monkey" scale has been banished. The bottomless dry measures and the double measure have also passed on. The over-sensitive scale hereafter will be a thing of the past and the avoirdupois pound 16 ounces will again ascend its throne in the weight world. Paper wrappings, cartons and other superfluous pasteboard and paper will no longer be charged up to the consumer at the price of high grade butter or other commodities.

The Sealer met with unusual courtesy on the part of the tradesmen and nowhere have public officials been more anxious to aid in the work than at Donora. Sealer Mikesell was offered every assistance and shown extreme courtesy by the citizens, the tradesmen and the public officials. The confiscated scales, weights and measures were deposited in the borough building where they are now on exhibition. The accompanying cut shows more than 200 individual pieces of confiscated "stuff." The Sealer visited 116 dealers and inspected all scales except those of a capacity of 500 pounds and upwards. At present no provision has been made for looking after the scales of the dealers used in checking up the wholesalers. The first inspection is completed but the Sealer will have to re-visit those places where scales were red-tagged for repair and make re-tests. In all probability many of these scales will fail to pass muster.

Sealer Mikesell, in commenting on the inspection says: "I want to thank the Burgess, the members of council, the Borough Clerk and assistants, the Chief of Police and his officers and all borough officials and employees and the tradesmen and citizens in general for the many courtesies shown me and the aid rendered in making the first inspection here and last but not least the American for its editorial support." GOOD WILL.

The most dominating factor in politics, finance, industry and everything pertaining to the well being of society today is the good will of the public. Even the big corporations and monopolies are beginning to recognize that unless they have the good will of the public they cannot exist, and that their road is becoming more rocky each year with the increase of hostile sentiment on the part of the public. This is most forcibly set forth by an article in the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post by Will C.
Payne, who says in effect that public sentiment is forcing the big monopolies to eat out of the hands of the people.

This is demonstrated by many notable examples. Mr. Payne relates how a Chicago Street Railway company got a ninety-nine year franchise, and proceeded to give rotten service, secure in the belief that the company was entrenched by its long time franchise. This was further fortified by various court decisions in the efforts of the people to get good service. Finally after some years of growing public hostility, the matter was taken up to the United States Supreme court, and that latter body, recognizing that the temper of the people was dangerous, knocked the ninety-nine year franchise galle, west and now the street railway company can be led around by a string.

Big corporations and big business generally recognize now that unless they have the good will of the public their securities are valueless.
They are obliged to sell their stock to the public in order to get money, and if the public is hostile to their corporation, their securities are worthless. This is evidenced by the big decline in the stock of the Express companies, because the public has it "in for them." Railroads and other big industries who used to insult newspaper reporters and magazine writers are now most obliging and affable in giving out information.
The big interest that has gotten the hostility of the press is now spending big sums of money in costly advertising space in order to try to square the account. This kind of advertisement is even having an effect on court decisions.

Big business cannot longer be financed by the banks. It has to sell its stock to the public, and even the banks are dependent on the people for their savings to supply the funds that are poured into Wall Street for speculation.

the money trust. Therefore the policy of monopolistic concerns in skinning the public for all the traffic will stand is having a reactionary effect that will become a mighty weapon as soon as the people recognize their power in withholding its good will from all concerns that do not play

A FRANK STATEMENT.

Governor Tene's frank suggestion as to how the proposed bond issue of $50,000,000 should be expended in improving the roads of the commonwealth in case the people approve the constitutional amendment at the polls next fall, should satisfy those who are knocking the proposition on the grounds that the final disposition of the funds is being concealed. It has been charged that the governor proposes to have enabling acts passed in advance of the passage of the amendment, so that in case it is approved by the legislature, the money can be expended right off the reel, which will call for continued and increased expenditures far in excess of the amount now proposed to finish up the work begun.

This contention is effectually dissipated by the governor's statement that he contemplates no enabling acts until the constitutional amendment becomes a fact, which will be the province of the legislature of 1915. Then the governor suggests that the bond issue be floated in such amounts as can be used to best advantage each successive year for a term of six years. This, however, will have to be provided for by the enabling acts of the legislature, in which case it will be open and above board, with nothing secretive about it. This statement of the governor should dispel the distrust that is being created over the proposed bond issue which, while not likely to affect the passage of the act to submit the resolution, might jeopardize its success at the polls next fall.

The proposed bond issue for the improvement of the roads of the commonwealth is the most important piece of constructive legislation yet undertaken, and it would be a calamity for it to fall down at the hands of the voters at the polls because of misunderstandings as to details.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A Pittsburg woman, who makes frequent visits in Charleroi, relates that when Jacob Riis, the well-known
New York philanthropist, addressed the Twentieth Century Club of which she is a member in Pittsburg last week he was introduced by Rev. Dr.
James H. McIlvaine, rector of Calvary Episcopal church, who related an interesting anecdote in connection.
Dr. McIlvaine stated that one time during the winter, after he had prepared his Sunday sermon he picked up Jacob Riis' book "How the Other Half Lives," and began reading it.

"So impressed was I by the revelations it contained," said Dr. McIl-vaine, "that I laid aside the sermon I had prepared, and wrote another one, based on the statements I had read in Jacob Riis' book only with a local application. When I delivered it I noticed that I received marked attention on the part of my congregation.

Dale Jolliffe, who is filling a posiheard regarding the presidential campaign last fall. It was at a Demoed himself, if not his audience, up to a fine degree of enthusiasm. So sure was he of Democratic success that he appeared willing to stake even his chances of future salvation on it.

Make You Feel Great

That's what ReCALL Orderlies do, because the thorough cleansing they give the bowels—their toning and strengthening effect upon the bowels
—the influence they exert toward promoting prompt, easy and regular action and keeping it free from the damage, distress and depression always caused by irregular bowel action—all these beneficial results from the use of ReCALL Orderlies help dispel gloom, improve the spirits and add to the joy of living. Very often they ward off serious ills that frequently result from continued constipation.

Their Easy Action

ReCALL Orderlies are a commonsense remedy for bowel disorders.
Easy in action, they do not purge, sneeze, nauseate or cause excessive looseness.

They tend to tone and strengthen the delicate intestinal nerves and muscles, promptly relieve constipation and help to overcome its cause and make its recurrence improbable.
In these things they differ from old-fashioned, harsh, disagreeable physics, which usually give only temporary relief and often leave the bowels in worse condition than ever.

We particularly recommend ReCALL Orderlies for delicate and aged persons and for children. In vest-pocket size tin boxes. 12 tablets, 10c; usual dose one tablet.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that ReCALL Orderlies are not sold by all drug-

of weights and measures inspection. Without this support I would have been unable to render such a report.

"I hope that the women of Donora will organize a Marketing Club such as they have in Charleroi, Greensburg, Monongahela and Pittsburgh for the furtherance of this work. Every household should have correct scales, weights and measures. Check up all purchases and help to lower the cost of living. Your tradesman will not object, for in a like manner he checks all goods he receives from the wholesaler. Weigh after your butcher, huckster and buttermilk, and let them know that you do so. You will be surprised to see the bulk of two pounds of sausage increase; the cost of chickens and other commodities for the Sunday dinner diminish. The coffee and butter will go further, you won't use quite as much sugar, and what is best of all, you will be pleased to note how rarely a mistake will occur."

Marrying Her Debts.

It sounds strange to talk of marrying the wife's debts, but that was a common practice in England years ago. It was before the married woman's property act of 1882. In contemplation of law the husband and wife were one, and the husband was that one. Then if the bride owed any debts before marriage they devolved on the newly married husband, and he had to pay the piper. This led to some extraordinary farces being enacted. Women who were overladen with debts actually got rid of them by marrying some poor bankrupt, imprisoned for debt. These men did not mind whether they were liable for hundreds or thousands, and the "wife" usually paid the "husband" a few pounds for the protection of his name, and then she would snap her fingers at her baffled creditors and garly set about incurring fresh debts. The law which settled and removed this sort of thing deserves a better title than the colloquial one of "a huss."—London Advers.

Baseball is Business.

Professional baseball is a business and millions of dollars are invested in it by business men. They make fortunes out of it, but they pay their players higher salaries than 999 out of every 1,000 of them could earn at any other line of work during a similar number of months each year. From a baseball player nothing is required but that he be able to play a good game and keep in condition. Many stars in the old days were able to do little more than sign their names and read big print. A better educated class of men are in the game today, but they are getting more money for their services than they could earn if they followed any one of hundreds of different professions. And remember that many of them stepped right out of college into good paying baseball positions. Could they have done as well financially had they entered banks or tried their hands at the law or medicine?—Ed A. Goewey in Leslie's.

RAZORS IN CHINA.

They Cost Little, but They Are Made From Old Iron Horseshoes.

An interesting feature of Chinese industry is the making of knives and razors from old horseshoes. The local blacksmiths in the interior cities and towns supply the great population of the empire with knives, razors and scissors of an inferior quality at a very small cost. This cutlery comes from small shops, where only one or two men are employed, usually the proprietor and his sons, and is chiefly made from old horseshoes imported from England and the continent. A discarded steel shoe offers the best material for blades, but the blacksmiths prefer the old shoes of soft iron that come from Glasgow and Hamburg.

One British firm at Tientsin brought over a cargo of old horseshoes from Australia recently, but could not dispose of them as the native smiths said that the iron was too hard. They like the soft iron because it can be more easily worked by their primitive methods.

A razor commonly used by the poorer class, having a cutting edge of less than two inches, costs 20 cents—about 10 cents in American currency. Upon the strip the blade takes a fair cutting edge, but is too soft to hold it. Any number of stroppings are necessary before the act of shaving can be completed. After the blades are forged they are simply case hardened and not subjected to the careful tempering employed in the production of western cutlery.—Youth's Companion.

The Worst Yet.

from his mother to the teacher one morning:

"Dear Teacher—You keep telling my boy to breathe with his diaphragm. May be rich children has got diaphragms, but how about when their father only makes $1.50 a day and has got five children to keep? First it's one thing, then it's another, and now it's a diaphragm. That's the worst yet!"—Ladies Home Journal.

HE SAW THINGS.

The Boy, Obeyed His Dad and Learned to Use His Eyes.

In the daily hour of conversation talk with his boy an ambitious London father tried to give some advice.

"Be observing, my son," said the father on one occasion. "Cultivate the habit of seeing, and you will be a successful man. Study things and remember them. Don't go through the world blindly. Learn to use your eyes. Boys who are observant know a great deal more than those who are not."

Willie listened in silence. Several days later, when the entire family consisting of his mother, aunt and uncle, were present, his father said:

"Well, Willie, have you kept using your eyes, as I advised you to do?"

Willie nodded and after a moment's hesitation said: "I have seen a few things about the house. Uncle Jim's got a bottle of hair dye hid under his bed. Aunt Jennie's got an extra set of teeth and a lot of false hair in her dresser, and pa's got a pack of cards and a box of dice and a leather covered flask behind the bookcase."—London Tit-Bits.

Just For a Change.

The great celebrity was seriously ill, and the attending physicians had diagnosed his case as appendicitis. They so informed him.

"Very well," he replied calmly. "I have only one request to make. I presume an operation is inevitable?"

"It is," they told him. "That being so," the great man went on, in the same calm manner, "please arrange to operate on me from below. It is my desire, when the time comes to operate, that I be rigged up securely in some hammock-like arrangement and that the surgeons work upon me as I swing suspended over their heads."

"His mind is wandering," whispered the attendants. "Not so," corrected the patient. "not at all. I wish merely to give the newspapers a chance to say something else than that I am 'under the knife.'"—Brooklyn Times.

How Soap Cleanses.

A Belgian chemist who has studied the action of soap on various soiling substances of different colors has arrived at the conclusion that the cleansing of an object consists in a process of substitution. There is brought about a colloidal combination of the soap and the soiling substance, which, by reason of its constitution, no longer has the power of fixing itself by absorption on to the solid body, with the result that it is easily carried away by the water. Thus in washing with soap one puts it in contact with one's soiling substances, these latter having a greater affinity for the former than for one's skin. Soap has even a greater affinity for one's skin than for the substances, which it proceeds to replace and to set free to be taken up by the water and removed.

The Way to Care For Wounds Until the Doctor Arrives.

There should always be some one in the home who understands the principle of "first aid in injury"—some one who can clean a wound, stop bleeding and apply a bandage.

Even the simplest wounds—where any blood flows—should be given prompt and scientific attention. This does not mean that every home should have a trained surgeon. The following ten emergency hints should be memorized:

Stop the bleeding if severe.
Do not touch an open wound with the fingers.
Note the nature of the injuries and put the injured person in a comfortable place and position.
Summon a surgeon.
Do not disturb blood clots.
Never probe for a bullet.
Pick shreds of clothing and splinters or dirt from a wound.
Then bring the edges of the wound together, but without touching them.
Pack the wound with gauze or absorbent cotton and apply bandage.
Bind on splints if bones are broken.
With a little study, a half hour a day for a week, and some practice, any one will be able to carry out the foregoing hints in a hygienic manner.—Kansas City Times.

An Island City.

Greater New York consists of forty-five islands. It might be called the Island City. Read the names of some of the larger: Manhattan Island, Long Island, Staten Island, Hart's Island, City Island, Riker's Island, North Brother Island, South Island, Blackwell's Island, Randall's Island, Ward's Island, Berrian's Island, Governors Island, Barren Island and Coney Island. Many small ones in Jamaica bay have large names. One island named Marble Hill, near Kingsbridge, has been made by the government channel cut through on the Harlem river improvements.

Human Nature.

"Why is it?" asked the curious guest, "that poor men usually give larger tips than rich men?"
"Well, sir," said the waiter, who was something of a philosopher as well, "looks to me like de poor man don't want nobody to find out he's poor, and de rich man don't want nobody to find out he's rich."—Exchange.

Mothers! Here's Something New For Croup and Cold Troubles

An External Treatment That Does Away With Internal Medicines, Chest Protectors, Etc.—You Can Let the Children Run Outdoors in All Weathers and Get Their Needed Fresh Air and Exercise.

Every mother is the doctor when it comes to treating the annoying little cold troubles that all children are heir to. The only trouble is to know what really is the best thing to do.

Some mothers keep the children in doors and make them wear chest protectors and heavy flannels. This method deprives the children of the fresh air and exercise they need and the heavy clothing keeps the pores of the skin open and really makes them catch cold more easily.

A new mothers' neglect these troubles entirely and this often leads in after life to chronic catarrh, weakened lungs, etc.

Most mothers keep on hand a formidable array of bottles and are usually dishing out one or more of the children. This method is probably worse than the others as most cough medicines contain alcohol and some form of opium and are very injurious to the delicate stomachs of the little folks.

After all, colds are simply inflammations of the lining of the air passages just like sunburn and mosquito bites are inflammation of the skin. We don't dose the stomach to cure sunburn, but we have had to dose the stomach for colds because there has been no way of applying a direct application to the air passages except in the form of vapors. And while the old vapor lamps gave off the needed vapors they required the room to be kept closed and hence kept out the all important fresh air.

Pine tar from the south, menthol from Japan, camphor from the Isle of Formosa and the oils of Thymol, eucalyptol, cubeb and juniper, are recognized as the best remedies for cold troubles. Druggists the world over have been seeking some cheap, convenient method of vaporizing these products without having to use the cumbersome vapor lamp.

A druggist in North Carolina discovered how to combine these products in a salve by a special process so that they were vaporized by the heat of the body when applied over the throat and chest. This patented process is the only secret about this new treatment which is known as Vicks Croup and Pneumonia Salve.

Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a little Vicks used occasionally will keep the children free from cold troubles, no matter how much they are exposed. Croup really is relieved in 15 minutes. For all inflammations of the air passages such as catarrh, bronchitis, tonsillitis, asthma, etc., this new treatment will be found remarkably successful. Simply apply Vicks well over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

All the drug stores in Charleroi are now agencies for the sale of this preparation and are giving, with each sale a refund slip that is good for your money back if Vicks is not found to be far better than internal medicines.

Vicks comes in three sizes—25c, 50c and $1.00. The price is never cut.

CHEERFUL NEWS CHARLEROI HIGH GETS DEFEATED IN FIRST GAME

For Feeble Old People.

As one grows old the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, the organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth the circulation is poor, the blood thin and digestion weak.

Vinol our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil is the ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. Vinol also fortifies the system against colds and thus prevents pneumonia.

A grand niece of Alexander Hamilton over eighty years of age once remarked: "Vinol is a god-send to old people. Thanks to Vinol I have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, feel active and well. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I have ever used."

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble old people and create strength we will return your money. Piper Bros. Druggists, Fallowfield avenue.

A Peer's Homely Face.

The poet Rogers was afflicted with a notably homely, cadaverous countenance, which, with all his intellectual power, was a mortification to him. To hide his annoyance he joked about his ugliness incessantly and deceived his friends into supposing him indifferent to it. He once turned to Sydney Smith, who, with Byron and Moore was dining with him, and said: "Chantrey wants to perpetuate this miserable face of mine. What pose would you suggest that I should take?" "If you really wish to spare the world as much as possible," said the wit, "I would, if I were you, be taken at my prayers, my face buried in my hands."

Rogers laughed with the other persons present, but he shot a malignant glance at the jester and it is said, never fully forgave him for the bonmot.

A Primitive Partnership.

There are three partners in a boat in a Yorkshire fishing village who will not accept a check because the bank is too far away. They have two miles to walk to get their money orders cashed. Only one of the three is able to read and write and he draws the money, and then the three sit at a table and divide it.

"One for yow," says the leader, and places a sovereign in front of one partner. "One for thee"—and another sovereign is put in front of the other partner. "And one for me"—and he places another at his own corner.

And so he goes on. "One for yow, one for thee, and one for me." until the sovereigns are equally shared, then the silver and even the pence are divided in the same way.—London Mail.

The Charleroi high school baseball team got a walloping in its initial game Saturday. Waynesburg did it, but it took ten innings of the hardest kind of struggling. Four hits in the first part of the tenth brought away scores, and Charleroi could only tally two scores in the latter part, and there it was 9 to 10, the score. The game was witnessed by a nanum of spectators.

Charleroi looked hefty until the fifth inning when the Greens garnished their record with four hits and five runs. The Charleroi boys tied the score in the eighth. Waynesburg jumped into the lead in the ninth and Charleroi came strong, tying the score again.
